The Police Record.

Judge Aylesworth transacted the usual amount of business at the police court yesterday. John Miller, a nineteen-year-old prodigal, said that he was his mother's pet, and was considerably unnerved at being charged with vagrancy. He readily promised whatever the court wished, and was much re-lieved when the judge said: "Well, Johnnie, you can go back to your ma." William Smith and Jack Brennan were not so fortunate, and were fined $7.60 and $8.10 respectively, for a lively

Can the City Read Its Title Clear to Fairmount Park?

Title to the Park. The BEE yesterday morning called attention to an apparent move to wrest from the city, if possible, the beautiful Fairmount park. The article caused no little stir, and there are numerous inquiries as to what move is to be made on the part of those who, by the record, appear to be securing at least a color of title to this valuable tract. It is rumored that ere long there will be notices of suit and that the chief claim will rest upon the technical defects in the condemnation proceedings by which the city came into possession of this park. No one seems to know, or at least to be willing to make public, the plans and purposes. There have been several deeds passed lately, by which it appears tnat the foundation is being laid for a legal fight. A deed has gone on record conveying to Mr. C. Haldane, of the law firm of Wright, Baldwin & Haldane, all of E. S. Williams' interest in the park Now there appears a deed by which Mr. Haldane conveys it to Jason Walker, of Wichita, Kan. There is a good deal of mystery attending the affair, but it is creating considerable alarm, the attention of the public being now directed to every move which can possibly affect the title of the city.

There being a feeling that the move had for a center the law office of the firm named, inquiry was yesterday made of Mr. John N. Baldwin, with the hope that he might throw some light upon it. Mr. Baldwin smiled as he denied knowing anything about it. It was one of those smiles which could not but be interpreted, "Well, young man, I could tell you a good deal, but it's really none of your business—just yet. I don't want to lie to you, but I don't want to tell.' His words were much in accord with his smile. "There is nothing for you to learn about it so far as we are concerned. It is simply a business matter belonging to the firm of Wright, Bald win & Haldane, and not to the public The statements that suits are to be commenced are certainly not made by anyone having authority to speak in the matter, and are not made by any one who knows anything about it. I don't care to have our private business mat-ters made public. When the time comes when there is anything which the publie ought to know, I will see to it that the BEE has the information so soon as any paper. Of course you newspaper fellows feel at liberty to give your readers all sorts of news, and that is all right, but you'll have to wait awhile be fore you can get anything authoritative in regard to this matter.

The park commissioners are never-theless liable to be put to some trouble, for the recent deeds show there is something going on which points to the jeopardizing of the city's title to the park. Whether any claim can be main-tained is a question, but that there will be an attempt made to either wrest the park from the city or force a compro-mise is quite evident, despite Mr. Baldwin's reticence in regard to the private business of his firm.

Wadsworth, Etnyre & Co. loan money District Court.

Yesterday morning the case of the State vs Carrigg was called. Before this was proceeded with one of the attorneys for the defense in the contempt case of the State vs Heitman asked that the case go over to the next term as Colonel Sapp, his associate, was away. The court thought the other counsel ought to familiarize themselves with the case and to allow time for this, the hearing was postponed for one week.

The State vs Carrigg was resumed. Defendant's attorney demurred to Mr. Sims' appearance as counsel for the state and entered a motion to show cause why he so appeared. The ground was taken that the case was a criminal prosecution and the district attorney was the only person authorized by the state to prosecute. The motion as to showing cause was maintained. Mr. Sims was sworn and deposed, giving his employment by the "Law and Order League" and his authority from District Attorney Thornell in December 1886. The defense objected to the insufficiency of this employment, and assumed the po-sition that the present district attorney, Colonel Dailey, and he alone should prosecute, in the name of the state, crim-inal proceedings.

The state attempts to show the ownership of Carrigg to the property wherein the saloon is located and that liquor has been sold and drank there since the enjoinment of the place. About half a dozen witnesses were examined and probably as many more will yet appear on behalf of the state. The case is being hotly contested and will probably consume several days.

ner Main street, up-stairs. A Boy Flogged.

There was quite a little stir made among the educational circles yesterday by charges made by Mr. Lynchard, of the Council Bluffs Herald, that his step son, Perry Howard, had been unmercifully flogged by two of the lady teachers in the Pierce street school. The matter is being inquired into, and until some definite report is made or formal action taken by those who have charge of the schools, it is hardly just to pass judgment upon the action of the young ladies, whose reputation as teachers are, to a certain extent, involved. On the part of the family it is claimed that the boy committed a trivial offense, failing to prepare a declama-tion, and that after school he was made to kneel on a beach with a low back and bend forward, while one of the teachers held his arms and the other applied the rod so unmercifully as to give the boy great pain and leave bruises which will

ished the boy as usual in such cases, and that they had no idea that he was being given any more pain than was to be ex-pected, and without which the punishment would only be a farce. Superintendent McNaughton examined the boy yesterday and found there were some black and blue spots, but it is claimed that these are very easily made on a child's flesh. The boy was not injured in any respect and the marks indicated simply that he had been given a good trouncing. The fact of there being two teachers concerned in the affair is explained by the rule of the board which requires that any teacher whipping a pupil shall have another teacher present as a witness, this being deemed as much a protection to the pupil as to the teacher. The purpose of this rule is to avoid any trouble, either from the undue severity of the teacher in anger or the misrepresentations of a pupil as to what the punishment was. The instrument used in this case was just what has been used in the Pierce street and other schools for some time—it being a piece of hickory, three feet long, about three-quarters of an inch wide and an inch thick. This seems a pretty solid striking machine, but when it comes to the settlement of what sort of an instrument is to be used there is field for wide difference of opinion. The board has placed this weapon in the hands of teachers, and must bear the responsibility of this. The teachers are responsible for the way they use it. case seems to be simply a question whether the boy was whipped too severely. The board seems inclined to the belief that he was not.

Financial Distress. There was much surprise caused yes terday by the announcement in business circles that Nat Shepard, the druggist at No. 122 Main street, had made an assignment. Mr. Shepard has been in business here for about seven years, having sold out at Woodbine and removed here. He has the confidence of the public and despite his financial troubles his heaviest creditors have no less faith in his integrity of intention than before. His assignment was to W. A. Wood, who was formerly in the hardware bus iness here. The assignment embrace everything and is for the benefit of all his creditors, there being none pre ferred. The liabilities are estimated at $2,000. The stock of goods is thought to amount to about $2,000 and the book accounts to about as much more. There will be some shrinkage probably on the assets and there is little prospect for the liabilities to diminish. His heaviest creditors are right in the city and they have not been pressing him. In fact there has been no intimation or any fear but that he would be able to pul through all right, so that his assign ment came unexpectedly. It is be lieved that no creditor will lose a dollar and that there will be a margin be sides. It is surely so hoped, for Mr. Shepard is a most honest and worthy Funeral of S. A. Anderson. The funeral of Samuel A. Anderson, who was killed in the Northwestern yards Wennesday morning, took place at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, from his late resideuce, 1108 Avenue B. Rev. T. J. Mackay, of the Episcopal church, officiated. At the close of the services at the church the burial was conducted by Excelsior lodge No. 259 A. F. and A. M., of which order Mr. Anderson has been a worthy member. The attendance was very large as the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association, of which he was also a member, had engaged Dally's Fifth regiment band and attended in a body, acting as escort to Excelsior lodge. There were were a large number of car-riages containing friends which followed to Fairmount cemetery, where the body was laid at rest according to the impressive Masonic ritual. floral offerings were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased had been held.

A New Departure. Messrs. Powell, Gould and Carter, of Omaha, members of St. Andrews' Brotherhood, have kindly consented to address the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church to-morrow evening. Their subject will be "Work Among Young Men," and an effort will be made to effect an organization of St. Andrews' Brotherhood in this city. This is de-cidedly a new departure in the Episco-pal church, and is evidence that this old historic organization is aroused to the necessity for more vigorous efforts in this line and is possessed of the necessary machinery to reach the young men who are so hard to reach by the old-time methods. A Puget Sound Co-Operative Colony. San Francisco Chroniele: About two years ago a few firm believers in co-operation determined to establish a colony on the Pacific coast where all should be workers and all should alike reap the benefits of their toil. A few energetic colonists started to build houses, and from that time up to the present the colony has continued to grow steadily, and is now reported to be in a flourishing condition, numbering 2.500 people. They own 3.000 acres of fine timber land, ane have a saw mill running in full blast, which cuts 40,000 feet of lumber in ten hours, and are putting up a large shingle mill. A shoe factory is in operation, and will event-ually be one of the leading industries. In addition to these there are tin, bluck-smith and machine shops, a tannery and a brickyard which turned 250,000 excellent bricks from the first kiln. A newspaper devoted to the doc trines of co-operation, etc., is published at the colony, and a tramway is being built from the saw mill into the center of the timber land to convey the logs to The harbor is said to be the best on

Every person, from the president down to the commonest laborer, works eight hours a day and receives a regular salary, which runs from $2.75 to $3 a day, and at the end of each year the net profits of the entire colony are divided into two parts, one-half being set aside for general improvements, and the other half divided among the workers, in proportion to the amount of wages
